

Mnemonic Dictionary for Selected Vocabulary Terms
in Learn to Read in Japanese, Volume II
10-16-19

The following list contains words and phrases that have been copied from the vocabulary lists in Learn to Read in Japanese, Volume II. Those lists are based on three sources: the Kanji Catalogue, the practice sentences, and the recommended supplemental reading material (Satori Reader and News in Slow Japanese).

When you read the Practice Sentences for Learn to Read in Japanese, Volume II, and the optional Supplemental Reading Material recommended in that book, you will encounter these terms. The purpose of this separate “dictionary” is to make it possible for you to locate these mnemonics easily, without having to turn pages looking for them. If possible, we suggest that you print the list and keep it nearby as you read.

In some cases, the entries below are not really mnemonics but simply explanations of Japanese terms written in katakana, as in the first entry (“aachisuto”).
